Marketing Plan for AU student project
1/17/98 through 5/31/98

1. Distribute multi-color, attractive flyers to campus weekly.
2. Meetings will continue for 1st and 3rd Saturdays at 12:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. for continuity.
3. Each meeting will have a different theme to increase curiosity and increase marketability.
   Initial topics (others to be selected based on feedback from students):

   February 7th. Exploring being Black and Lesbian/Bisexual; Black women loving other women

   February 21st. Loving Women and Loving God; Lesbianism, Religion, Church and God.

   March 7th. Finding, Meeting, and Dating Women; Connecting with Compatible Women.

   March 21st. My Black Community and the Gay Community; Must I Choose?

4. Update Outreach line daily to indicate activity and replenish motivational message from Proud to Be Me; a daily message book for Gays and Lesbians.
5. Include a pager number on Outreach line to avoid repeat hang-ups on line and to increase chances of connecting with callers.
6. Spend time in lesbian chat rooms each week to try to connect with AU students. Post meeting announcement on relevant electronic bulletin boards.
7. Work with 1 or 2 AU student(s) to identify other outreach strategies.
8. Try to arrange speaking opportunities on campus addressing Gay issues to help identify students who may be interested in the group.
9. Place personal classified ads in the Creative Loafing and Southern Voice to identify AU students who would like to meet other students and discuss their issues.
10. Maintain a weekly presence on campus at least one visit per week and identify at least one staff person per campus to assist in identify students who may attend group meetings.
11. Continue print advertising and radio announcement plan as outlined.
12. Identify community mental health professionals for referrals and to provide information about the group.
13. To avoid creative ownership conflict, the marketing materials and announcements will refer to the group as "Jis' AU Womyn" pronounced "Just All Women"
14. E-mails sent to Zami regarding the discussion group can be forwarded to cjrabb@jfcs-atlanta.org.

February 7th meeting outline

Goal: Bring at least 5 women together for discussion.

Topic: Exploring being Black and Lesbian/Bisexual; Black Women loving other Women.

Meeting place: Indigo Arts

Cost for space:2 hours @ $25 dollars per hour totaling $50 dollars. Cost recovery plan includes to having volunteer(s) work for 10 hours at $10 per hour at Indigo Arts during the month of February.

This plan is respectfully submitted for your approval

1. Sincerely, Carla

Astraea
US Movement Resource Fund

ZAMI, Inc., is a not-for-profit collective for lesbians of African descent based in Atlanta, Georgia. Its primary mission is to empower and affirm the lives of lesbians of African descent through advocacy, education, leadership development, scholarship funds, support/discussion groups, social outreach, and cultural activities. ZAMI also operates a national scholarship fund that provides financial assistance and mentoring to "out" lesbian gay, bisexual and transgender students of color and sponsors special programming to develop their leadership potential and to honor the life and legacy of Audre Lorde.

ZAMI is requesting a $2,000 travel grant from the US Movement Resource Fund to send Beryl Jackson (BJ) a long standing board member to the National Black Lesbian Conference hosted by ZUNA Institute. ZAMI board chair and former executive director, Mary Anne Adams will also be attending with all expenses underwritten by Susan G. Komen for the Cure where she serves as a member of the LGBT National Advisory Council.

ZAMI has a long standing relationship with ZUNA having played a key role in the first black lesbian conference held here in Atlanta, Georgia as well as sending members and conducting workshops at subsequent conferences. We left the sessions energized and determined to be a force in helping to end health disparities in our community as well as educate others.
As one of the few organizations in the country led by lesbians of African Descent, and the only organization of color to award annual scholarships to out lgbt students of color, ZAMI understands the importance of visibility and the necessity to establish and nurture relationships outside of our local base of operation. ZAMI's participation in this conference will be a catalyst in the connectivity of these two groups and similar organizations across the country for networking, community organizing and building, fundraising, communication on health issues, relationship issues, and having a safe space to "just be." We seek to learn new ideas and innovative ways of working in community that we can bring back and share with our membership.

Beryl (bj) Jackson is a long time community activist. As former Executive Director of the Georgia Breast Cancer Coalition Fund, a statewide grassroots nonprofit, Beryl has advocated at the state and federal level to increase funding for breast cancer research, education and to improve access to high-quality health care and breast cancer clinical trials for all women. She has facilitated advocacy workshops which educate our community, empower survivors and their families to advocate for better quality, affordable and equal access to healthcare and one day to eradicate cancer.

Beryl is a board member and serves as treasurer of ZAMI, Atlanta's Premiere Organization for Lesbians of African Descent. Beryl is a former member of the National Breast Cancer Coalition Fund's Board of Directors and a graduate of Project LEAD, a program of the National Breast

Cancer Coalition Fund which trains breast cancer advocates in the science of breast cancer so they can better critically analyze breast cancer research and influence research committees and other breast cancer decision-making bodies. Project LEAD has trained advocates in the language and concepts of cancer biology and basic epidemiology.

Time To Be Renewed was the theme of this year's National Black Lesbian Conference. The various workshops revolved around this theme as well as the keynote address by Dr. Marjorie J. Hill. The things that resonated most with me was the need to take of myself in order to be of benefit to others and the need to educate my community about breast cancer facts and how they affect the lesbian community. Another thing that was stressed at the conference was the necessity for me and others to advocate for what we want and feel we need in order to reduce the disparities surrounding healthcare in our community. As a result, I have designed a post card containing breast cancer facts that we will distribute at all upcoming ZAMI events.

I have also included pictures from the conference. I would like to thank the Astrea Foundation for providing me the opportunity to attend the conference.

Sincerely,

Beryl (bj) Jackson

The National Black Lesbian Health Conference was very educational, and inspiring. The workshops all seemed to permenate the same message which was the importance of educating and advocating for yourself when dealing with your health issues. The other message was the importance of being out when talking with health care providers.

Progress Report
Outreach Project

In accordance to the marketing plan submitted January 24, 1998. (See attached) I, Carla Rabb Outreach Facilitator, have met the following goals.

1. Distributed colored flyers for the month of February on Au campuses. (See attached)
2. Changed the message line with motivational message and pager number.
3. Working with three AU students to help market program; Virginia Hunt, Kendra Abdulwali and Natalie Shelton.
4. Discussing with Craig Washington the possibility of duplicating a presentation we made for Morris Brown last year that drew many students interested in discussing Lesbian/Gay issues.
5. Placed personal ads in SOVO and Creative Loafing that read: Black College Women; Let's get together for talks, food, fun & socializing. Sometimes we just need to hang out and kick it.
6. Have been able to maintain a weekly presence on the campuses.
7. Have identified one staff person to contact on campus.
8. Have met with editor of AUC and designed an advertising plan alternating classified and display ads for the rest of the semester excluding spring break. The total cost in $448.00 including the ads Queen ran. (See attached)
9. Have identified two mental health professionals who could have referrals.
10. Changed the project name to avoid creative ownership conflict with Queen.

In addition, I met with Afrekete and they would like to co-sponsor the meeting on the Lesbianism/Religious conflict. I have gotten a few pages from interested students, although I get hang up calls everyday. Unfortunately, no students attended the 1/31 meeting that was previously scheduled. I am keeping a detailed log of the calls I get. I have not changed the message daily as planned. Based the current number of calls it is not yet practical.

I regret that I am not able to personally deliver this report. I hope that you understand. Please send your good vibrations and inspiration so that I might be reaching my goals for this outreach meeting right now.
Thanks and goodbye for now

THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION FOR GREATER ATLANTA, INC.

How were the funds from this grant award used? Please provide an itemized budget and an expenditure report, including receipt copies for such items as equipment, labor, materials, etc. if available. If the entire amount of the grant award has not been expended by the grant progress report date, please explain why and how you propose to use the unexpended amount.

ZAMI, Inc., utilized the $5000 grant from The Community Foundation for Greater Atlanta, Inc. to launch an outreach program for lesbian and bisexual women on the Atlanta University Center (AUC) campus. A facilitator was hired to bring the women to a safe place off campus for dialogue. The funds were used specifically to hire a facilitator to conduct a publicity campaign, and for other administrative costs. A complete financial statement is attached.

Was the intended purpose of the grant award fully realized? If not, why and to what extent did the project successfully meet its goals. If the project has not yet been completed, when do you anticipate its completion?

Yes, the intended purpose of the grant was fully realized. We were able to provide a safe space for support and discussion to 35 lesbian and bisexual women from the Atlanta University Center. See attached Participation Report.

What were the specific outcomes directly related to this grant? Please include pertinent statistical data and/or narrative analyses/evaluations related to project activities.

The "Just AU Womyn" project raised visibility among lesbians in the AUC and resulted in one of the AUC participants applying for and receiving an Audre Lorde Scholarship. This project also raised an overall awareness of issues affecting black lesbians and gays in the Atlanta community. Additionally, a hotline—"mailbox in the sky"—was initiated to handle calls from interested lesbians and bisexuals in the Center. Over a 13-week period the line received 93 calls with over 49 contacts and several non-specific inquiries. Although some of the calls were hang-ups, the overall response demonstrates the need for this type of resource in the community and further reflects the effectiveness of the marketing and advertising campaign. (See attached Southern Voice article)

What were the major benefits of this grant award to the metropolitan Atlanta community and to your organization?

An important benefit of this project was an increased awareness by the larger community of resources available to young African-American lesbians and bisexuals. As a result of this raised awareness significant alliances have been formed with organizations like the Urban Rhyme Project, the Atlanta Gay-Straight Alliance, Women's Resource Center to End Domestic Violence, Inc, and the Georgia Equality Project.

If this grant award was for an on-going program or activity, has continuation funding been secured? If not, what are the organizations' plan for securing such funding?

The "Just AU Womyn" outreach project was not designed as an on-going program.

Did this grant award assist your organization in leveraging grant funds from other sources? If yes, please provide details.

No, we have not sought additional grant funds at this time. However, we anticipate that the success of this project would assist us in our ability to secure future funding.

During the past year, what have been some of your organization's most important accomplishments? Include items of both a programmatic and administrative/managerial nature.

During the past year our organization was able to increase from two to three the number of scholarships awarded. We also oversaw the successful launching and completion of the AUC outreach project. Moreover, ZAMI collaborated with several community organizations and groups for the production of our Audre Lorde Scholarship Weekend. We received funding and/or support from various organizations, including: the Atlanta Lesbian Cancer Initiative; the Bonaventure Bed and Breakfast, the Charis Circle; the First Existentialist Congregation, Indigo Arts, the Picture Lady, and the Stonehurst Bed and Breakfast. Emory University provided invaluable resources from several of its offices, including: the Office of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgendered Life; the Institute of Women's Studies, the Department of African-American Studies, the Lesbian and Gay Lecture Series, and the President's Commission on the Status of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgendered Life.

We hired a facilitator for the AUC Project and secured the pro bono services of a lesbian, African-American certified public accountant. The AUC project was managed by the in-kind contributions of a collective of African-American lesbians who donated their expertise, resources, time and energy.

What are some of your priority goals? Are they of a short or long term nature? In your opinion, what are the major needs, concerns, or issues, etc. within your organizations' primary area of specialization? We would be particularly interested in those needs that are not being met, and in any specific recommendations you might suggest for meeting them.

Over the longer life of the organization, the goals are to sustain the scholarship fund and to increase the numbers of scholarships awarded. ZAMI plans to formalize a mentorship program to develop the leadership potential of younger African-American lesbians, and enhance the Audre Lorde Scholarship Fund. Our major needs are for hiring personnel trained in fundraising, grantwriting, and general administration. Presently, the organization is administered by a volunteer collective whose present schedules and commitments preclude more rigorous involvement in the types of activities needed for its goals to be met.

With regard to management and administration, are there any specific areas in which personnel from your organization might find training workshops or technical assistance of some benefit?

Members of the ZAMI collective and volunteers would benefit from workshops in fundraising, grantwriting and overall organizational administration. Additionally, there is a need for technical assistance, specifically computer-based assistance in building and maintaining donor and mailing lists and in producing web pages and other informational tools.
